Defense Procurement and Acquisition Policy

DPAP is responsible for all Contracting and Procurement policy matters including e-Business in the Department of Defense (DoD). DPAP executes that policy through the timely update of the DFARS, PGI, and 5000.1&2.

Vision
Acquisition excellence through leadership with integrity.

Mission
Enable Components to effectively deliver equipment … needs of the warfighter … guidance, and oversight … of the taxpayers' money.

Mr. Shay D. Assad
Director, Defense Pricing

Mr. Shay D. Assad assumed the role of Director of Defense Pricing in June of 2011. He is responsible for contract pricing policy matters within the Department of Defense (DoD). Read More

Mr. Richard T. Ginman
Director, Defense Procurement & Acquisition Policy

Mr. Richard T. Ginman assumed the position of Director of Defense Procurement and Acquisition Policy (DPAP) in June of 2011. In that capacity he is responsible for domestic, international, and contingency contract policy, Acquisition policy and oversight of DoD 5000.1 and 2, oversight of the DFARS and the DoD member of the FAR council, as

Key Points

- Ethics are vitally important, particularly in the contingency environment because of the cultural differences.
- You must strictly avoid any conflict of interest—or even the appearance of a conflict of interest.
- You must not forget that your duty is to the US government, DoD, and your customer.
- You may not accept any gift because of your official position, and you may not accept any gift from a contractor, potential contractor, or partnering contractor.
- There are very limited exceptions to the gift prohibition. You must document unavoidable violations and report them to counsel immediately.

statements of fact or rationale essential to support the determination and must cover each requirement of the statute or regulation.

General. (FAR 1.702) A D&F shall ordinarily be for an individual contract action. Unless otherwise prohibited, class D&Fs may be executed for classes of contract actions. (FAR 1.703) The approval granted by a D&F is restricted to the proposed contract action reasonably described in that D&F. D&Fs may provide for a reasonable degree of flexibility. Furthermore, in their application, reasonable variations in estimated quantities or prices are permitted, unless the D&F specifies otherwise.

When an option is anticipated, the D&F shall state the approximate quantity to be awarded initially and the extent of the increase to be permitted by the option.

Some of the more common general D&Fs are as follows: type of contracting action, exercising option, period of performance extension, ratification, and so forth. See the accompanying DVD for a more detailed list of D&Fs and samples.

Class Determinations and Findings. (FAR 1.703) A class D&F provides authority for a class of contract actions. A class may consist of contract actions for the same or related supplies or services or other contract actions that require essentially identical justification.

- The findings in a class D&F shall fully support the proposed action either for the class as a whole or for each action. A class D&F shall be for a specified period, with the expiration date stated in the document.
- The contracting officer shall ensure that individual actions taken pursuant to the authority of a class D&F are within the scope of the D&F.

Content. (FAR 1.704) Each D&F shall set forth enough facts and circumstances to clearly and convincingly justify the specific determination made. As a minimum, each D&F shall include, in the prescribed agency format, the following information:

- Specific identification of the document as a D&F.
- Identification of the agency and of the contracting activity.
- Nature and description of the action being approved.
- Citation of the appropriate statute or regulation upon which the D&F is based.
- Findings that detail the particular circumstances, facts, or reasoning essential to support the determination. Necessary supporting documentation shall be obtained from appropriate requirements and technical personnel.
- A determination, based on the findings, that the proposed action is justified under the applicable statute or regulation.
- Expiration date of the D&F, if required. (FAR 1.706)
- The signature of the official authorized to sign the D&F (FAR 1.707) and the date signed.

Supersession and Modification. (FAR 1.705)

Defense Contingency Contracting Handbook

What's New

Notable Recent Updates

September 2012

1. The 4th Edition of the Defense Contingency Contracting Handbook is released! This edition supercedes the 3rd Edition, relased in June 2010. The new Handbook was developed with support from across the Department of Defense, and reflects changes to policies, regulations, and best practices, and incorporates lessons learned from recent contingencies. Significant updates and new features include:
    - More than seventy additional FAR, DFARS, and other policy references have been added. Updates to reflect current policy have been made throughout.
    - Acquisition-related thresholds and dollar values have been updated.
    - New material on Government Property, planning and Operational Contract Support (OCS), Time and Materials and Labor Hour contracts, redeployment and demobilization considerations, common systems and tools you may use, and much more
    - Revised material on funding and appropriations law, the types of contingency operations, the Defense Base Act, the Synchronized Predeployment and Operational Tracker (SPOT), Contractors Authorized to Accompany the Force (CAAF), Field Ordering Officers, high-risk areas during a contingency, and much more.
    - Several updated Figures and Tables
    - Revised Website and DVD layouts
    - Revised Chapter-based PowerPoint Briefings and Chapter-based Test Questions.
    - Revised Appendices
    - Revised system of linking the paragraphs in each chapter to the related Website and DVD materials. The 3rd Edition of the Handbook used a system of icons; the 4th Edition compiles the relevant materials into a single page at the end of each chapter.
    - Additional web-only content regarding fraud, redeployment considerations, planning, and more.
    - New podcast on using the Handbook, Website, and DVD.
    - Updated copies of related Forms, Publications, Regulations, Trainings, and more

Statement of Work (SOW) and Performance Work Statement (PWS) Listing

Statement of Work - The portion of a contract which establishes and defines all non-specification requirements for contractor's efforts either directly or with the use of specific cited documents.

Performance Work Statement - A statement of work for performance-based acquisitions that describes the required results in clear, specific and objective terms with measurable outcomes.

Statement of Objectives - A government-prepared document incorporated into the solicitation that states the overall performance objectives. It is used in solicitations when the Government intends to provide the maximum flexibility to each offeror to propose an innovative approach. That portion of a contract that establishes a broad description of the government's required performance objectives.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

1. Q: How do I get a copy of the hard copy handbook & accompanying DVD?

A: Copies of the third edition of the handbook were initially distributed to users in September 2010. Non-Army requests for copies must be requested through ContingencyContracting@osd.mil. Please provide your Name, Organization, Home Station unit/address and the number of copies requested.

Attention Army: All Defense Contingency Contracting Requests from the Army: Please contact the Army's Media Distribution Division (part of the Directorate of Logistics-Wishington), at 314-592-0910; dolwcustsrv@conus.army.mil.

Due to limited copies, all CCOs should first request the DCC handbook through home station organizations before requesting a copy through DPAP. Copies were distributed throughout all four services and other defense agencies (DAU, DCMA, DCAA). Please check with your home organization before requesting a DCC handbook from the email listed above.

2. Q: What does the DVD contain?

A: The DVD contains a stand-alone version of the Defense Contingency Contracting Handbook website that does not require the internet to be able to access the training documents, test questions, games, and other supporting materials. The DVD does not contain anything that cannot also be found on the website. The DVD comes packaged with every printed copy of the handbook.

3. Q: Why can't I access all of the guidebook material from the DPAP web site?

A: Due to the nature of some of the material and/or some of the web sites referenced, some of the guidebook references MAY NOT BE ACCESSIBLE if you are not using a military computer (i.e. ".mil" access) or do not have a CAC or smartcard access. If you are accessing the material outside of a government network, please use the DVD to enjoy full
